Dear Dr. Gregory,
Re: Ms. Olivia Grace, D.O.B.: 17/09/1988

I am writing to update you on Ms. Grace, who will be discharged today after successfully treating her decompensated schizophrenia. Your follow would be highly appreciated.

Comment [OET1]: being

Comment [OET2]: treated for

Initially, on 17/12/2021, Ms. Grace presented to emergency in an aggressive condition. She had been hallucinating, and refusing to eat or drink or take her medications. As a result, she was admitted, and received diazepam and halopridol IM. Over the next following days, Ms. Grace has been improving; therefore, she was commenced on risperidone, procyclidine and lorazepam. This treatment started giving results in terms of all her symptoms.

Comment [OET3]: On

Comment [OET4]: few

Comment [OET5]: was not improving

On today's review, Ms. Grace reported sleeping and eating well. In addition, she denied any delusions or hallucinations. Her discharge medications include procyclidine 5 mg twice per day, and an IM injection of clopixol 200 mg on 09/01/2022. Please note that Mrs. Grace is divorced, and has limited social support. This is her seventh hospital admission since her diagnosis with schizophrenia back in 2015.

Comment [OET6]: was

Comment [OET7]: fortnightly

Comment [OET8]: C

Comment [OET9]: ; the next one is due

Based on the above, Mrs. Grace would need rehabilitation, psychosocial skills training, and ensuring her compliance with treatment. Should you have any queries, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Comment [OET10]: already known to the addressee

Comment [OET11]: encouragement to comply

Yours sincerely,
Doctor

| Comments                              | The letter is much shorter than the minimum 180 words and needs more information on hospitalisation. Also, many inaccuracies pertaining to grammar and word choice are visible. The letter does not meet the expectations.                                                                                                                                                                 |
